Dear Families,

On April 11 award-winning author/photographer Kathy Miller will visit St. Joan of Arc School. Our students will learn about chipmunks, backyard birds, and writing nature stories.

According to a recent Kaiser Family Foundation study, today's youth spend an average of 44 hours per week staring at electronic devices, creating America's first generation to grow up emotionally and physically disconnected from nature. One goal of this presentation is to stimulate an interest in the outdoors by exposing students to natural behaviors they can encounter in our local environment. We hope that our students will be inspired to create their own books from what they observe in nature.

The Chippy Chipmunk series weaves together the best of the visual and language arts, science, photography and storytelling to make backyard nature accessible and fun. These hardcover, jacketed books contain 70-90 photographs and feature fun facts on the end pages. You can visit the author's website to learn more about the author and her books at www.chippychipmunk.com.

If you would like an autographed copy, they can be purchased for a discounted price. Please send your check (payable to Kathy Miller) or cash with the bottom portion of this letter by Friday, April 5.

Return by Friday, April 5
